6M REPORT (Hearing 6m DX): [edited]

"Greetings -- After I predicted the 6m summer Sporatic E's season to begin on 7th June 2009, it appears the season has started in FN20 as of 10th June 2009, for the low power operators. At 8pm I was working EM 26-40-46-70 in La, Al, and Fl, with 100 watts and a thrown up 2 element Quad. On June 11th, I was hearing Costa Rica and Fla. On June 12th, at 6pm I was working YV4, HI3, PJ2, and Fla with many strong signals on the band. On June 15th, I was working into W1 land FN30, FN31 and FN41 at the end of the VHF contest. On June 16th, at 4pm I began working Fla and Ala along with J39BS Grenada, ON4IQ, HI3TEJ, VP2M and WP4 stations, all with S9 signals into FN20. On Thursday, 18th June, at 3pm I began working into EM 32-63-64-74-82-94-95....AL, GA, NC and SC. The band started out short to SC, NC and TN. It opened up with many stations and strong signals into Fla. I even worked a couple mobiles with loops on the roof and a few stations using Halos.

For the early risers on Saturday 20th June 2009, as this is being written, I worked into Europe after 7am with stations CN8LI, CT3FQ Madeira Island and CT3KU/p. EA's, CU1EZ, CN8SG, and CT3DZ were also heard or worked up until about 1230z. All this with 2 elements hanging on my 2 element tribander boom!! And the season has just begun!! I have a 4 element 6m Quad being built so I can be heard a little better. 6m openings have been very thin in FN20 and this has brought out all the operators finding 6m on their new radios. I had worked several halos, dipoles, and ground plane stations with the band open. The real jewel during Sporatic E season is Bermuda....that little dot in the middle of the Atlantic. I can't wait to work Ed in Bermuda, VP9GE.

It is a great thing to hear so many new DX stations on six meters. With relaxed regulations on power and antennas, I expect we will hear many more stations working into the U.S. at the bottom of the sunspot cycle with one small spot showing and no C class or better solar flares to report. For size and performance, I don't think you can beat the Quad loop or beam. I also use a 6 element yagi pointed towards Florida and get similar reports with just 2 elements. Four elements will just make things easier for me. Thanks for producing the propagation and DX reports. They are well read at this location...."
Yours truly,
Larry Lilly Sr. N3CR
Lehighton, Pa FN20dv

8Q, MALDIVES

By the time you read this, Vlad, RA9LR, should will be active as 8Q7LR from Hudhuranfushi Island, North Male Atoll (AS-013), until July 2nd. A35, TONGA (Update)

Paul, A35RK, on Wednesday, June 17th, informed OPDX that lots is happening in Tonga for him. He told us that "A35RK is moving to a new QTH. On December 1st, the whole family is moving to Vava'u (OC-064)." He will be departing Vava'u on June 27th, and between then and December 1st, Paul will be moving back and forth between the island groups. Paul adds, "I will get my yagi antennas up in Vava'u ASAP, but no firm date commitment is possible. In the meantime, it will be 100w to a G5RV, whenever I am actually in Vava'u. I will drop the A35RK/p callsign and revert to the straight A35RK, as soon as I make an official change-of-address notification to the radio licensing authority.

What all that means is that A35RK (OC-169) is essentially QRT because the first shipment to Vava'u will include all of my radio gear and all of my tools. It is highly unlikely that I will do any more operating from Ha'apai." Paul states that he has made 80,000+ QSOs from there over the past 13 years, and this should be enough to satisfy the IOTA crowd." Bob, W7TSQ, will remain his manager, and he will modify Paul's QSL cards to indicate IOTA OC-064. Future LoTW logs will likewise be modified, as will QRZ.com info as soon as the move is official. On a personal level, Paul states, "This is a big move 'up' for us. The whole family is looking forward to the improved living conditions in Vava'u (ie, better schools for the kids, better telecom and shipping connections, better 'shopping', reliable mains power, etc.). Please wish us luck in this new endeavor." OPDX wishes Paul the best of luck in his new QTH.

ANOTHER UPDATE FROM PAUL: "It's official: my A35RK license address has been changed by the Radio Licensing Officer. I will stop signing A35RK/p immediately. All contacts with A35RK, beginning 0001z, June 18th, 2009, will be from Vava'u Island, IOTA OC-064, grid square AH31ai. A35RK from Ha'apai, IOTA OC-169 is QRT."

CT8, AZORES

Operators Jan/DL7JAN and Egon/DL2IX will be active as CT8/homecall from Faial Island (EU-175) between August 21-31st. Activity will be on 80-6 meters using CW, SSB and RTTY. QSL via their homecall, by the bureau or direct.

CY0, SABLE ISLAND (Update)

The following was received by John, K1XN, author of the GoList, from Randy, N0TG (edited): "A challenge for us is to keep the weight allowance under control. The charter aircraft limits us to 1400 pounds total weight. That includes body weight for the team (3), personal items, equipment, antennas, computers, food, EVERYTHING. The weight creeps upward pretty fast and must be watched carefully. It looks like the low bands will still be very productive ones as Cycle 24 lingers. I personally am pleased and excited to have the Battle Creek Special going with us.

There seems to be lots of interest on 160 by the EU's and others as well. One thing that we are 'not' is experienced RTTY operators. However, the recent few weeks we have equipped our stations with the necessary computer interface, software, etc. and are becoming a bit more enlightend on RTTY operation. We've made a number of contacts and are pleased to have this set up and ready. NCDXF in particular encouraged us to include RTTY. Web traffic continues to increase from world-wide QTH's. Certainly, we know CY0 not one of the most rare spots..but it does look like many are looking for it to fill in a mode/band combo, and hopefully it'll be an interesting event and promote activity for our wonderful hobby. Thanks..we appreciate the support; we can't express that enough!! We look forward to working you.
